

Vote for Atlanta's Restaurant of the Year

Below, see the nominees for Atlanta's Restaurant of the Year, and vote in the poll at the bottom of the page:

Gunshow, chef/owner Kevin Gillespie's modern Southern dim sum-style eatery.

Kimball House, perhaps Atlanta's favorite destination for oysters and cocktails.

Miller Union, home to 2014 James Beard Award nominee Steven Satterfield.

St. Cecilia, Ford Fry's Buckhead Italian restaurant, which opened in January.

The General Muir, which is still producing the best bagels and lox in the South, and recently offered previews of the forthcoming Yalla and Fred's Meat & Bread.
